The News from Europe. The news from Europe brought by the geanship North Briton was up to the 1st of toms and sensations is copied verbation et June. The intelligence may be summed up in the following points:--First-Public confidence had been so far restored that the price of English consols had bayancy prevailed on the Paris Bourse. Scond-It was reported that so soon as Milan would fall into the hands of the French. strennous efforts for peace would be made by England and Prussia.

Third-The Military Committee of the agreed on recommending to the Diet the placing of a federal army of observation on the Fourth-There was a report that Garibaldi. after entering Como on the 27th of May, had heen defeated by a superior force on the 29th. and had withdrawn into the canton of Tessin. Turin despatches, however, represented him as making further progress.

Fifth-The Emperor of Austria had arrivei at Verona on the 31st of May, accompan-ied by his brother, the Archduke Charles. and Baron Hess, the great strategist. On the other hand, the Emperor of the French was about to move his headquarters from Alessandria to Casale, and it was expected that he would be buck in Paris in August. Sixth-That the Austrians are reported to have made a forward movement in considerable force to Bobbio. These, we believe, embrace all the features of the news by the North Briton. The reaction in the funds is an evidence of the belief of the public in England and France, that the present war will not be of long duraion -N. Y. Herald.

Dangerous Experiment.

A Nova Scotian, named John Wilson, who was stopping at the Globe Hotel in William street, purchased an air gun on Saturday, and amused himself after dark, by discharging it out of his window into the street. The first shot shattered the glass of a street lamp, and other shots went bounding and glancing among the buildings, till a struck a woman, named Mrs. Davis in the neck. She was sitting in a lager beer saloon, and was badly, if not dangerously, wounded. Search was made for the person employing this weapon, when Wilson was found in room No. 67, on the Franklin street side of the hotel. His room door was locked. but the occupant, pretending to have just awoke from a sound sleep, admitted the officer, who found an air gun secreted under the bed, and some bullets on the table. Wilson at first denied, but subsequently confessed to having fired the gan through the window, but said he had no intention to harm any one. Wilson was taken to the station house, and yesterday morning was committed for further examination. Wilson's reckless disregard of life is a bit of Acadian pleasantry, in which he cannot safely indulge. New York Commercial.

Operations of the United States Mint.

As much interest has been recently excited by the discussions which have arisen, both in this country and Europe, on the politico-economical relations of the increased supply of gold, we have thought that the statistics showing the gross product of that precious metal from domestic sources in the United States might prove instructive to the intelligent reader. According to the annual report of the Director of the Mint at Philadelphia it appears that, from the commencement of its opera-tions to the 30th of June last, the gross product has reached the sum of $443,127,921, of which, as the following table shows, more than ninety-five cal Journal says:

Love and Duty. A marriage was recently announced in our columns between a gallant son of Neptune and the daughter of a respected clergyman of the Church of England. After the nuptial ceremony, the "happy couple" left town to spend the honeymoon, but scarcely had they departed when a telegram from the Admiralty reached the bridegroom's residence, directing him instantly to join his ship in an English port, as it had been ordered to sail the following morning on foreign servace .-No time was lost in dispatching the telegram after the newly-married couple, whom, much to their consternation, it soon reached, but the order was imperative, and, with that devotion to duty so characteristic of the British officer, the bridegroom at once "tore himself away" from the arms of his weeping bride, and within three hours after his marriage was bowling along at the rate of thirty or forty miles an hour en route to the headquarters, leaving his better half to return to the shelter of the paternal roof till the arrival of more peaceful times. - Scotsman

PAYING OFF THE FRIGATE MINNESOTA AT Boston.-The crew of the frigate Minnesota, numbering about 600, were paid off yesterday, the amount required being over $165,-000, in sums varying from $200 to $500, The gates were closed, and none but those connected with the yard were allowed to enter until the men were paid off. The crowd outside the walls was large. The streets were flanked with backs and boarding-house runners. Several philanthropic individuals were inside the vard, and as the sailors entered, imparted wise counsel and encouraging words to save them from the pit falls which surround them. The crew, as a whole, are a noble set of fellows. John Boles, one of their number, lost the use of his right hand in practising with the guns, and his shipmates contributed $475 to his relief .-George Cummingham, now at Chelsea Hospital, under treatment for an ulcerated leg. was presented with a purse of $200 from the firemen's gang .- Boston Daily Adv., June 11.

THE CROPS .-- A recent visit to the Southcoming harvest. With the exception of the crops of corn in Montgomery, Pulaski, and Wythe counties, which were injured by the late frosts, the prospect for an abundant yield of all the staple products of the State was never better. The wheat, in particular, from Lynchburg all the way to the Tennessee line, seems to be as full and promising a crop as was ever seen at this season of the year. We noticed some fields in Bedford and Roanoke counties, that are well worth the trouble of a visit from the Scaboard to behold. Below Lynchburg there is some rust upon the leaves of the wheat, but we did not hear from any one the opinion that there was yet a positive injury to the crop. West of Lynchburg, we heard of nothing that was injurious to the wheat crop, and while the "fly" and "worm" have yet an opportunity to make their destructive attacks, they must come soon to do much harm, as many fields are already changing color under the ripening influence of the summer sun.-Petersburg Int.
